TWEEN HOLIDAY

Issue 8

Hey Friends,

We're super excited for this latest issue of Tween Holiday! Yippee!

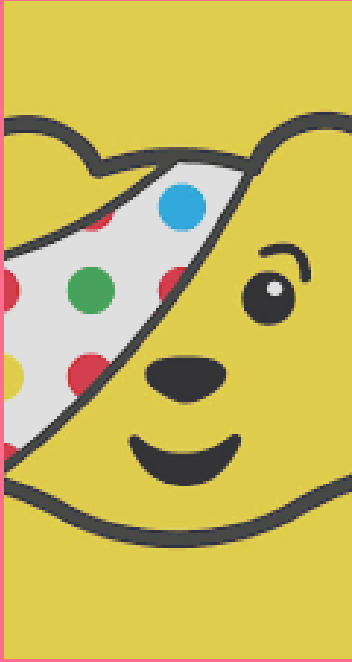

We're back with a new style, and hope you like the layout.

Give us some feedback as we're trying things out to see what styles really work.

In this issue we're celebrating Harvest, Fundraising, and Friendships!

Enjoy and share your thoughts!

TRADEMARK OF CHILDREN IN NEED

Children in Need is a charity that asks celebrities to come to their shows so that they can raise money for children who need help across the UK.

If you would like to watch Children in Need it is available on BBC iPlayer and it can also be watched live. The next event date is 19th November, 2021.

Children in Need charity inspired Tween Holiday so much that we decided to do an article on fundraising. To get you started on this fun hobby, here are some top tips.

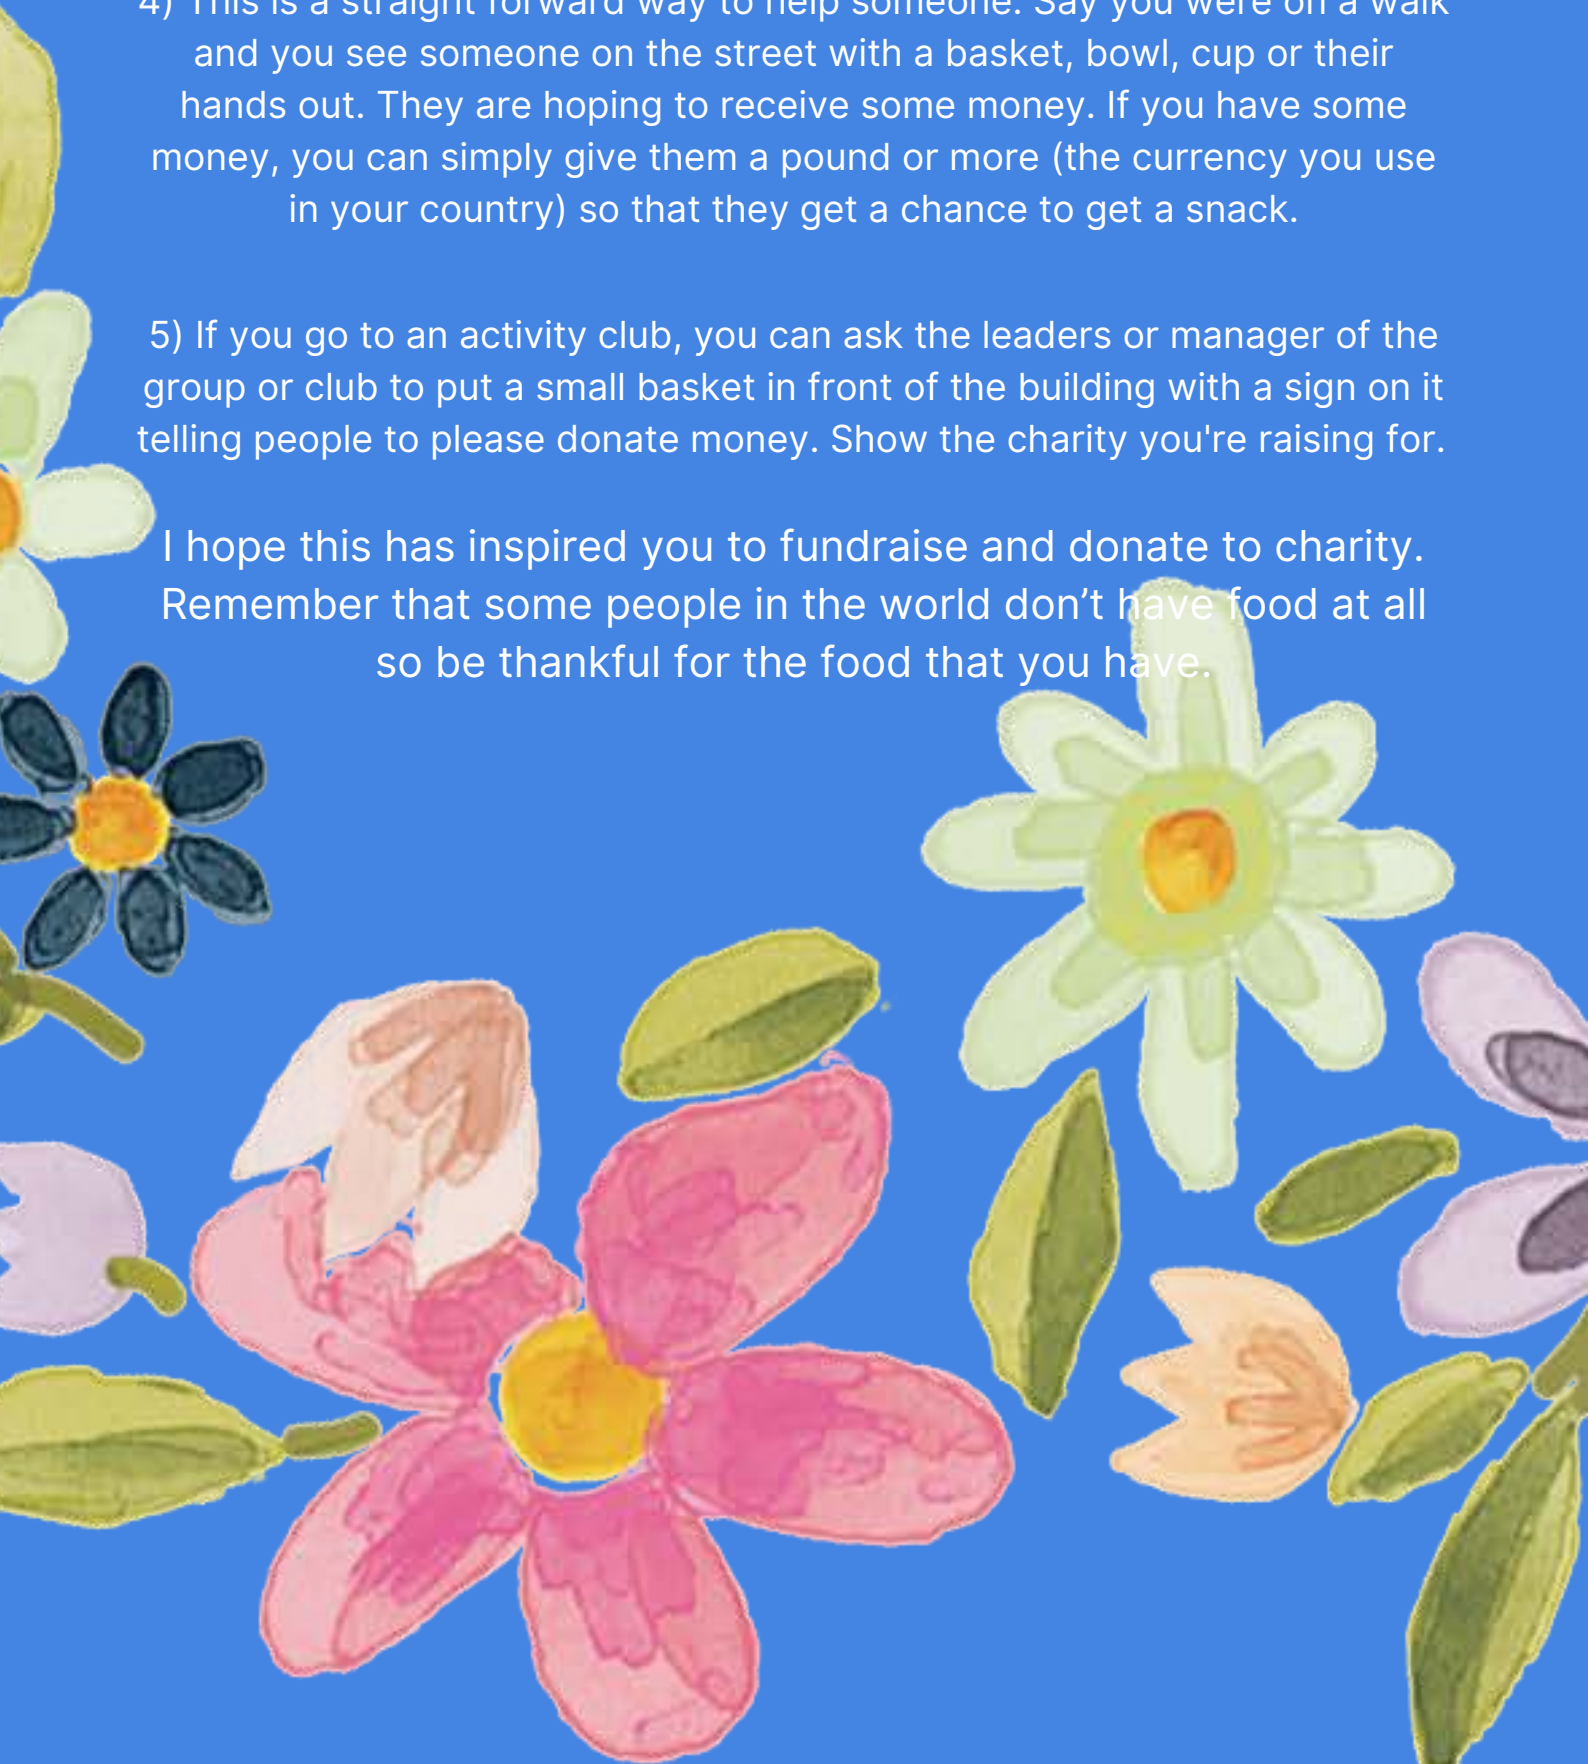

1) A cupcake stall is one of the easiest ways to start fundraising. If you already know how to make cupcakes you will know the whole experience is fun. Set up a sign so that people know why you're putting up a sale.

2) Another idea is to give some of your old toys to a charity shop. This way, you could bring lots of joy to different boys and girls. You could also donate clothes and other things you don't use or need anymore.

- 3) If you have a school council or class representative, you might want to ask them if they could ask your headteacher/principal if you could hold a funfair on school grounds to raise money for charity.
- 4) This is a straight forward way to help someone. Say you were on a walk and you see someone on the street with a basket, bowl, cup or their hands out. They are hoping to receive some money. If you have some money, you can simply give them a pound or more (the currency you use in your country) so that they get a chance to get a snack.
- 5) If you go to an activity club, you can ask the leaders or manager of the group or club to put a small basket in front of the building with a sign on it telling people to please donate money. Show the charity you're raising for.

I hope this has inspired you to fundraise and donate to charity. Remember that some people in the world don't have food at all so be thankful for the food that you have.

NOW SHOWING

If you're looking to watch a good movie this half term, we have two recommendations we hope you'll enjoy as much as we did.

My grandpa detective is a movie for all ages. It is full of moral and life lessons.

It is about a man called Robert who works as an inspector in a police station. But when his grandpa comes to work there too, they are forced to work together.

That would have been fine if Robert didn't blame his grandpa for something in his past.

Will Robert be able to forgive and forget or will this be an everlasting grudge?

I rate My Grandpa Detective a 4.0-star movie.

In conclusion I think it's a good to watch family movie.

This movie is available to watch on Amazon Prime.

Raya and the last dragon

Image Copyright: Disney

Raya and the last dragon is set in Southeast Asia and is a movie based on a myth about dragons. The movie tells about the town of Kumandra's past and why the dragons are significant to it.

Raya and her family are charged with protecting a special treasure. But then something happens that puts this task at a major risk.

Now, Raya must learn how to protect herself from different types of troubles, even some she's unaware she's causing herself.

Bumping into an old acquaintance every time she's had enough. She wants to get over with this town that's in jeopardy.

The movie is free to watch on Disney+

Raya and the last dragon is what I rate a 4.0-star movie. It teaches you that friends can turn into fiends and fiends can turn into friends. It also teaches you to trust and believe in people even if you aren't fond of them anymore.

CELEBRATE HARVEST!

Season's Best

Celebrating the work of farmers

TIME FOR HARVEST

Farmers wake up early and go to bed late, working an average 65-hour week, compared to the 37 hours most people work.

In this month of October is when we should take time to appreciate the hard work of all the farmers around the world.

Farming might sound like an easy job with all the machines (such as tractors) but really it isn't. Every year you have to sow the seeds and hope for rainfall so the crops can bloom in spring and be harvested in autumn. As well as this, you have to milk the cows and goats, feed the cows, pigs, horses, goats, chickens, and whatever else you have on a farm.

On top of all this, you have to constantly repair the animals' lodgings so they can't escape and this is all the easy stuff!

At harvest, we should take time and be grateful for the food that all farmers made which is exactly why we celebrate Thanksgiving (in America for example). It is to show our gratitude to all the producers of food in the world and we don't take it for granted. This year Thanksgiving is on the 25th of November.

Along with all this, you can remember all the people who don't have food and be grateful for what you have. But there is a solution to hunger in some places such as the UK. You contribute food to a food bank.

A food bank is where people that don't have food can go and get some food to feed themselves and their families. It is a great help to the whole society.

long-lasting friendships!

Do you have a close friend or group of friends that you would like to stay in touch with as you grow older?

Keeping friends even when we move to different schools and places, takes a certain type of commitment.

Firstly, time commitment. You have to make the time to call or visit each other.

Long standing friendships can be very rewarding as you have someone who truly understands and appreciates you.

LONGSTANDING FRIENDSHIPS REQUIRE
COMMITMENT. HERE ARE 5
KEYS TO MAKING IT WORK.

BE LOYAL - DON'T SNITCH

BE KIND - TRULY CARE

BE HONEST - DON'T LIE

BE GENTLE - NOT HARSH

BE THERE - LISTEN & SHARE

MAKING FRIENDS IS SO IMPORTANT. IT
HELPS YOU DEVELOP EMOTIONALLY, SOCIALY, AND MORALLY.

SO, CHOOSE YOUR FRIENDS WISELY.

If you're struggling to make friends, try to look for another child who may be lonely in the playground or classroom and walk up to them and say hi.

It would take courage.

But you may have to take that brave first step to get the chance of making a new friend.

If you have a friend who is constantly making you feel sad or bad, try to find a way to talk to them about it.

If you are not able to, then speak to your parent or carer about the situation to get some advice on how to handle it.

It could be a case of a misunderstanding that can be easily sorted.

If it's a constant nagging or bullying, you may need to find a new friend or set of friends to spend time with.
